Healthcare Consumerism Corner

The Healthcare Consumerism Corner is a new and regular feature of the MMHG BEneficial WELLness NEWS. With medical costs continuing to rise consumers are challenged more than ever to make informed decisions about their healthcare.

The True Cost of Care- You have a Choice!

For many of us, the cost of healthcare is invisible. We pay our copay but we don’t think about the actual cost of service. But it’s those actual costs that help drive healthcare inflation and directly affect our premium costs and rate increases. Understanding the actual cost of the medical care you receive can help you and your doctor assess your best and most cost-effective treatment options.

Seeking the Appropriate Level of Care:

It’s Friday night, your throat has been bothering you for a few days and now it really hurts. You think you may have strep throat and your doctor’s office is closed. So you decide to go to the Emergency Room (ER) for a throat culture. After waiting several hours to be seen by a physician you get a throat culture, find out you have strep throat, and head to the pharmacy to fill your prescription before going home to rest.

What you may not know is that your visit to the ER probably cost about $600. You paid your $75-$100 emergency room copay + deductible (depending on your plan).

A Better Option:

You decide to go to an urgent care clinic like the CVS Minute Clinic. You wait a 1/2 hour and see a Nurse Practitioner who does a throat culture, diagnoses strep and writes you a prescription. You pay the less expensive office visit copay of $15-$35 (depending on your plan). The entire visit would costs around $90 (a fraction of the ER visit cost) because it is billed to your insurance company as an office visit not an emergency room visit.

The Bottom Line:

The Mayflower Municipal Health Group is a self-funded group which means we pay our own claims. Multiply that non-emergency ER visit by the hundreds that occur every year for our group and you can see how fast costs can climb. When costs climb your premium climb. By going to the CVS Minute Clinic instead of the Emergency Room in this case you got the care you needed at the right time at the right price.

The choices we make really can impact the cost of our healthcare. Ask questions and get the information you need to make the choice that’s right for you!

A Work-Space Vegetable Garden

by Mary Cordeiro

When I told my co-workers that we were awarded a grant for a veggie garden they all got involved in the planning. A raised bed was built with wood posts along the back tall enough to grow vine crops and the bed was filled with layers of organic material and top soil in “lasagna style gardening”. Because the garden was located along the main walkway to our front door, neatness was important.

Planting was done in a grid of 1 foot-squares with several kinds of tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers and squash, plus beans, lettuce and watermelon.

We nailed metal fence posts onto the wood posts, ran rows of jute between the posts and weaved the tomato plants through the rows keeping their growth upright. All summer long we frequently gathered around the garden and enjoyed the anticipation, the discovery, and the sharing of our bounty; the eating was by far the best part. We expected to have a battle of wits with the deer and bunnies that live on the Base and much to our surprise they never nibbled on our plants. Our goal was to have summer salads for lunch; what actually happened was day long snacking from a basket of tomatoes and beans placed on our candy table, and many, many bags of lettuce and cucumbers taken home for dinner.

The office garden was a great idea and a perfect fit for us. We experienced success and failure with our crops, and learned what grew best on the southwest side of our building. Even though we’re still harvesting our own fresh produce, we’re already planning next year’s garden – extending the bed another 3 feet now that we know some vines just won’t climb!

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, an annual campaign to raise awareness about the disease and the importance of screening and early detection. Be sure to follow the MMHG on Facebook and Twitter and check out www.mmhg.org during the month of October for more links, articles, and educational information about breast cancer.

The US Department of Health and Human Services cites the statistic that one in six women born today in the United States will get breast cancer at some point in her life. Mammograms can save life by detecting cancer early. According to the Centers for Disease Control you can help lower your risk of breast cancer in the following ways—

- Get screened for breast cancer regularly. By getting regular exams, you’re more likely to find breast cancer early.
- Control your weight and exercise. Make healthy choices in the foods you eat and the kinds of drinks you have each day. Stay active. Learn more about keeping a healthy weight and ways to increase your physical activity.
- Know your family history of breast cancer. If you have a mother, father, sister, brother, son, or daughter with breast cancer, ask your doctor what is your risk of getting breast cancer and how you can lower your risk.
- Find out the risks and benefits of hormone replacement therapy. Some women use hormone replacement therapy (HRT) to treat the symptoms of menopause. Ask your doctor about the risks and benefits of HRT and find out if it is right for you. To learn more about HRT, visit the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force and the National Cancer Institute (NCI)—Menopausal Hormone Therapy and Cancer.
- Limit the amount of alcohol you drink.

Harvard Pilgrim’s Mind the Moment Program

Have you ever been in this situation— you’re snacking on a few potato chips while watching TV and before you know it the bag is empty and you can’t even remember tasting the chips? In your relationships do you feel frustrated that you keep getting into the same old arguments again and again and nothing gets resolved? Do you feel overwhelmed and stressed juggling work life and home life? You may want to consider practicing Mindfulness.

Mindfulness is the practice of becoming more fully aware of the present moment. It means to be attentive and conscious about what’s happening— to be aware. The Harvard Pilgrim Mind the Moment Program suggests that people who regularly practice mindfulness have experienced:

- Improved health and overall quality of life
- Reduced anxiety and depression
- Increased concentration
- Stronger ability to cope more effectively with stress in everyday life

For more information check out the Harvard Pilgrim Mind the Moment Program website. Click here to access the website and watch an informative 5 minute introduction to mindfulness. Interested? The program includes a free 6 week e-learning series about mindfulness.

(You do not have to be a Harvard Pilgrim member to participate in the 6 week e-learning series).

The Perfect Snack!

One medium apple contains more than 4 grams of fiber and only 95 calories. Tuck one into your lunch bag for a sweet and healthy afternoon treat.

"Surely the apple is the noblest of fruits." -- Henry David Thoreau, Wild Apples

Sweet or tart, crunchy and juicy, fresh, local apples are a delicious sign that autumn has arrived in New England.

The old saying that “an apple a day keeps the doctor away” may have a ring of truth to it. Apples are a good source of vitamin C and dietary fiber and are rich in antioxidants and phyto-nutrients.

Apples store well and are generally economical and versatile. They can be enjoyed raw, cooked, juiced and are used in both savory and sweet dishes.

Here is a great recipe for healthy baked apples that you can make with your kids after raking leaves on a cool autumn weekend afternoon.

Melting Apples

From the Mass in Motion Chop Chop Recipe page [www.mass.gov/massinmotion/chopchop]

INGREDIENTS

- 4 Granny Smith or other tart apples, cut off top third of the apple (feel free to eat it)
- ¼ cup dried fruit, like raisins, dried cranberries, currants, or chopped dried apricots or prunes
- ¼ cup coarsely chopped lightly toasted nuts, like walnuts or pecans
- 1 tablespoon sweetener, like maple syrup, brown sugar, or honey
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ¼ cup water

1. Turn the oven on and set it to 375 degrees.
2. Put the apples on the cutting board and remove the core by using a melon baller or a spoon.
3. Lightly prick the top of the sides of the apple with a fork (this prevents the apples from splitting).
4. Put the dried fruit, nuts, sweetener and cinnamon in a small bowl. Divide the mixture into four parts and stuff it inside the apples.
5. Put the water in the baking dish (or put 1 tablespoon in each of the four muffin-pan wells). Add the apples. Carefully put the baking dish in the oven and bake until the apples are soft, about one hour.

When we transition from summer to fall our food preferences tend to shift from summer salads and lighter grilled dishes to heartier fare like stews and soups. Here are a few simple and nourishing recipes for fall.

Pumpkin Soup
1 small onion, chopped finely
1 teaspoon olive oil
1 can pumpkin puree
3 1/2 cups reduced sodium chicken or vegetable broth
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup low-fat milk
Black pepper
Roasted pumpkin seeds (see recipe below)
Saute onion in olive oil over medium heat until tender
Add pumpkin puree, broth, cinnamon and nutmeg and mix well. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes. Whisk in the milk and cook until hot. Do not boil. Season with black pepper and sprinkle with roasted pumpkin seeds right before serving.
Makes 4-1 cup servings.

Roasted Pumpkin Seeds—Don’t toss away those seeds when you make a jack o lantern! Roasted pumpkin seeds are a healthy snack.
1 cup pumpkin seeds rinsed and cleaned and dried
1 T Cajun spice mixture
1/2 teaspoon kosher salt (or less if Cajun spice has salt added)
1 T vegetable oil
A few shakes of hot sauce (optional)
Preheat oven to 300°. Toss pumpkin seeds with Cajun spice mixture, vegetable oil and hot sauce. Spread seeds on a baking sheet sprayed with cooking spray. Turn from time to time. Cook for 45-60 minutes until lightly browned and crunchy.

Kale and Chicken Soup—Use leftover cooked chicken and rice to make this easy soup.
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped carrots
2 teaspoons olive oil
1 teaspoon dried thyme
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 cups low sodium chicken broth
1 12 oz can chopped diced tomatoes
1 cup Kale, chopped
1 cup cooked chicken cubed
1/2 cup cooked brown rice
Salt and pepper to taste
Saute onion and carrot in olive oil over medium heat until tender. Add garlic and thyme and sauté for one minute longer. Add chicken broth, tomatoes and Kale. Simmer for 5-10 minutes. Add cooked chicken and cooked rice and simmer 5 minutes or until piping hot all the way through. Makes 4 servings.

Hot Spiced Apple Cider—Simmer 4 cups of apple cider with 1 cinnamon stick, 2 whole cloves, 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg and several orange slices until hot. Strain and serve in a warm mug.

Have you Tried—Pilates?

“Physical fitness is the first requisite of happiness.”—Joseph H. Pilates

You might be hard pressed today to find a celebrity, professional athlete, or dancer who doesn’t mention Pilates when asked about their workout regimen. It seems like everyone is talking about Pilates.

Joseph Pilates developed the body conditioning routine in the 1920s initially to help rehabilitate war-injured soldiers. Pilates emphasizes increased flexibility to improve posture, flexibility, balance and conditioning. It focuses on strengthening the body’s “core” or midsection and spinal alignment. The Pilates method is a series of controlled movements practiced on specially designed equipment or on the floor. There are 6 Pilates principles: Centering, Control, Flow, Breath, Precision, and Concentration. The objective is a coordination of mind and body.

Proponents of Pilates claim that an effective Pilates program can yield numerous health benefits including increased strength, flexibility, and better coordination—both mentally and physically.

There are Pilates studios located in many communities, most fitness centers offer Pilates classes. Why not give Pilates a try?

Expecting trick-or-treaters or party guests?
Follow these tips from the CDC to help make the festivities fun and safe for everyone!

- Provide healthier treats for trick-or-treaters such as low-calorie treats and drinks. For party guests, offer a variety of fruits, vegetables, and cheeses.
- Use party games and trick-or-treat time as an opportunity for kids to get their daily dose of 60 minutes of physical activity.
- Be sure walking areas and stairs are well-lit and free of obstacles that could result in falls.
- Keep candle-lit jack o’lanters and luminaries away from doorsteps, walkways, landings, and curtains. Place them on sturdy tables, keep them out of the reach of pets and small children, and never leave them unattended.
- Remind drivers to watch out for trick-or-treaters and to drive safely.
